

Valley Forward's Environmental Excellence Awards Traveling Display

March 15-April 26, 2006

Valley Forward's Environmental Excellence Awards Traveling Display spotlights local projects, technologies and programs recognized in Arizona's oldest and largest environmental awards program. Award recipients represent Valley businesses, government agencies and non-profit organizations.

"Many people would be surprised at the impressive number and wide diversity of environmentally conscious programs developed by the public and private sector within our metropolitan community," Valley Forward President Diane Brossart said.

Valley Forward is a non profit public interest organization that brings business and civic leaders together to convene thoughtful public dialogue on regional issues and promote cooperative efforts to improve the environment and livability of Valley communities.

Tempe's award-winning "Water Muse" was among the projects included in a traveling exhibition of winning entries from Valley Forward's 24th annual Environmental Excellence Awards program.

"Water Muse," a public art project by artist Laurie Lundquist, earned an Award of Merit from Valley Forward in September and was selected for the Public Art Network's (PAN) prestigious Year In Review in May.

The Valley Forward exhibition spotlights local projects, technologies and programs recognized in Arizona's oldest and largest environmental awards program. September's Environmental Excellence Awards recognized 34 projects submitted by Valley businesses, government agencies and non-profit organizations for their significant contributions to the environment.
