The Great Influenza Pandemic

Thursday, July 24

6:30 - 7:30 pm

Tempe History Museum

This presentation is about the world-wide 1918 influenza pandemic which killed 2-3% of the world's population, dwarfing the horrible casualties of the Great War. In fact this flu outbreak could constitute the largest natural disaster in human history.

Presentation by Gina Gage, Project Director & Historical Archaeologist at Northland Research, Inc.

No Registration Required. Light Refreshments Will Be Served
