This Building Safety “Temporary Certificate of Occupancy List” (TCO) is meant to provide the project with overall guidelines to obtain occupancy at the earliest possible date. It is a “general” list meant to identify any major issues that could derail a project from receiving a TCO. Therefore, it is a valuable tool for the project team in focusing their efforts and resources to allow the City of Tempe to issue a TCO.

The Building Inspector will work with you to establish the conditions for a TCO. Once the conditions are established, you will be directed by Building Safety staff to bring the TCO fee and a TCO request letter detailing the conditions, including completion dates, to Community Development for processing. Please note that a TCO is only valid for 30 days.
