YEAR IN REVIEW

On Tuesday, July 29th, the Community Development Department hosted a staff ice cream social to present the Fiscal Year 2007-08 in review. Section leaders recapped program and project achievements, success stories and various awards received throughout the year. City Manager Charlie Meyer and Assistant City Manager Jeff Kulaga were on hand. Meyer presented Neil Calfee with a plaque in appreciation of his 12 years of service to Tempe, and reminded everyone Neil will still be serving the greater Tempe community through his new role at ASU. Special thanks to Diane Johnson and Julie Sparr for coordinating and providing refreshments for the event. PROJECT HOMELESS CONNECT

SUCCESSFUL CONNECTION

On Friday, July 25th Tempe hosted its most successful Project Homeless Connect to date. 22 different service providers and a record high 98 volunteers came together to provide immediate services to 217 homeless individuals! A special thank you goes out to Starbucks for providing coffee during the morning and to Quizno's for providing lunch for everyone. The next Tempe Project Homeless Connect is scheduled for Friday, October 24th. For more information, contact Theresa James, Homeless Coordinator at 480.858.2360.

MAYOR TO DUNK FOR TCC DOUGH

Time to dunk the Mayor? If your aim is good on Friday Aug. 15, Mayor Hugh Hallman will be ready for dunkin'. Dunkin' Donuts is celebrating the grand opening of its new location on University Drive and Priest. Rather than just doing the traditional ribbon cutting, the morning coffee shop will host a party with free doughnut samples, coffee and a tank full of milk for dunkin' the Mayor. Every ball that puts Hallman in the cereal-ready mix will add to the amount of money raised for the Tempe Community Council. Anyone who wants to take aim -- within the one hour window of time -- will have a shot at soaking Mayor Hallman. Get there early. Dunkin' from 6-7AM.

UNDER THE KNIFE

Do you have Opiophobia [fear of medical doctors]? Or perhaps you're nervous about an upcoming surgery? You need not worry -- the faux-med team in the Housing Division are here to assuage your fears and psychologically prepare you for going under the knife. Just as they've recently done for fellow team members slated for surgery, this newly-formed Tempe team of pseudo-technicians are frighteningly ill-equipped to calm you, to relax you, or to build your confidence in medical professionals. Tempe staff truly never stop thinking of new and creative ways to serve. Go team!
