TEMPE ANNOUNCES PRELIMINARY RESULTS OF PRIMARY ELECTION 2000

TEMPE, AZ – With a clear majority of the vote, Tempe Mayor Neil Giuliano was declared the winner of the mayoral race during today's primary election. Giuliano received 70 percent of the vote from nearly 13,543 residents who cast a ballot.

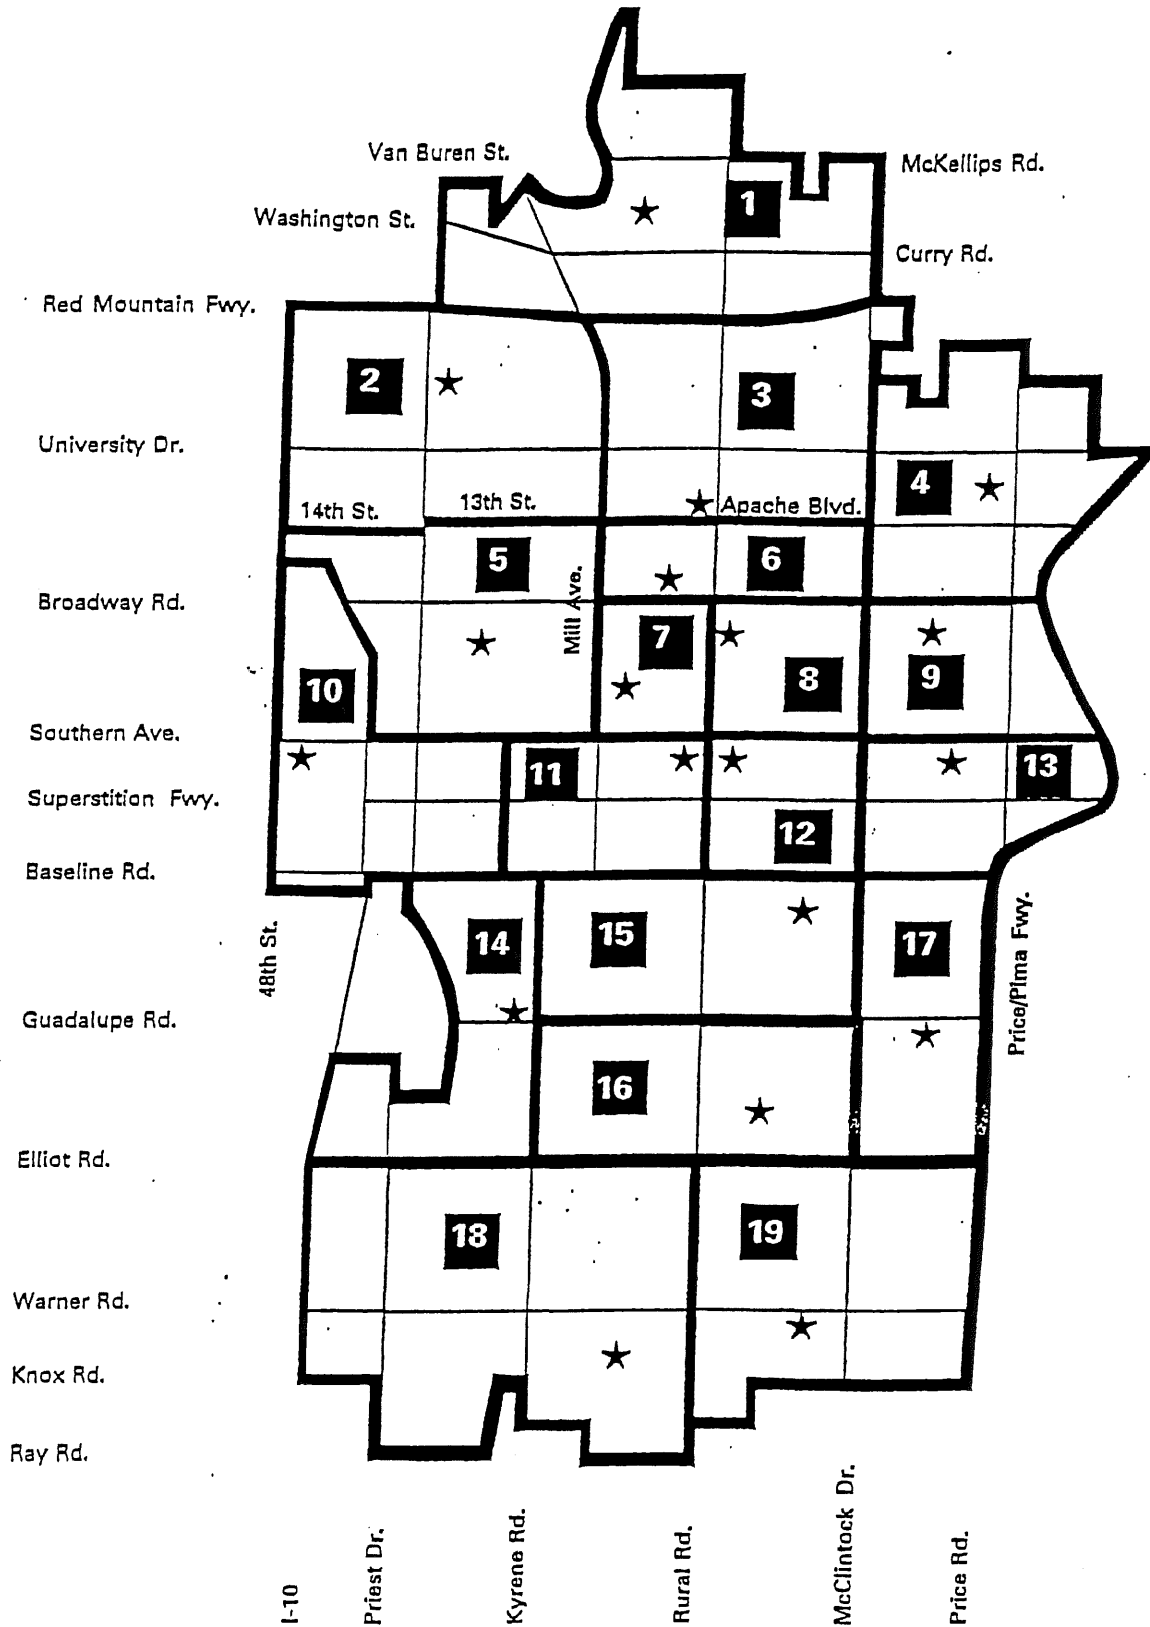

None of the 13 candidates for the three available City Council seats received the required 50 percent of the vote, so the six candidates with the highest percentages will be on the general election ballot to be elected to a four-year term. This list includes: Dennis Cahill, Barb Carter, Peter Graves, Mark Mitchell, Gretchen Wolfe; and, in a contest still too close to call, Fred Wood and Scott Burge. Final numbers will be released after all ballots have been verified and late mail-in ballots are counted.

The total voter turnout was estimated at 21 percent of the approximately 65,000 registered voters in Tempe. This year 8,298 Tempe voters choose early voting either by mail or at the library. This is in contrast to only 5,245 who voted at the polls on election day.

The general election will be Tuesday, May 16, which will include two ballot items: increasing sales tax to fund a new performing arts center and to extend the mayoral term from two to four years. If adopted, Mayor Giuliano would remain in office until 2004. Otherwise his term will expire in 2002.
